Overview

Knowing your current license consumption and maintaining compliance is an important part of system administration. Oracle does not limit the number of users you can create in the system which allows for easy overconsumption and potential license headaches. You should regularly do a license review as part of your ongoing maintenance strategy.

C3 has made this license review strategy easy. Leveraging our 25 years of Oracle experience, we have put together a comprehensive step by step process to easily review the current state of your Oracle licenses and how to resolve overconsumption issues.
